

The next several photographs provide a visual picture of the physical facilities of the university where students from across Latin America live and study and where our VIM team served.

The outside of the dormitory where UBL students and VIM team members live.

Students gather for meals and conversation in this area just inside the front entrance of the dormitory.

This is the room we stayed in. Student rooms have a twin bed, and a desk and chair.

Closet space and a sink are provided in each room. Bathroom/Showers are located on each level and are shared by students and VIM team members.

Top Left: The exterior of the building housing the administrative offices, library, and classrooms.

Top right: A typical classroom

Middle Left: An area where student and faculty can meet before or after class for study or conversation. A colorful mural is painted on the wall.

Middle right: A beautiful sculpture carved from a rosewood tree.

Lower right: Computer workstation provided to VIM team members for email communication to and from back home.

The exterior of the Chapel/Multi-purpose building. The architecture of the three building on campus intentionally represents the Mayan, Aztec, and Spanish heritage of the Latin American People.

The inside of the Chapel/Multi-purpose building. We ate our meals and had devotions in this building. While we were there it was also used for a wedding and a 50th wedding anniversary celebration

A bamboo grove between the Chapel and Administrative/Educational building. Inside is a place to sit and rest or meditate.

The University is located on a hillside in a residential/business community. This is the walkway down to the main gate.